“ Becky Kleikamp 17 minutes ago . There are no words to express how much we miss our sweet Britney....But we wanted to let everyone know how much we appreciate all the support we have been given throughout this terrible ordeal. You all shared your undying love for Britney, our family, Mark and his family. We want you all to know how much this helped carry us through Brits diagnosis and it gave us strength while caring for her. We can say with certainty that we did all we could do for Brit, and kept her comfortable and here as long as we could. I am very thankful for all the people in our lives and my daycare families who understood when I said that I needed to close my daycare to care for Britney. They all understood and I am very grateful for that. Also, thank you to all of our friends and family for organizing and having the fundraisers so that I could stop working to take care of Britney and yet keep paying the bills. Without these I don't know where we would be today. Britney was definitely a fighter and we are very proud to call her our daughter~FOREVER!! We also gained a new son(in-law) in Mark and we hope he will stick with us forever. We love him dearly as well as his family and hope they feel the same too. It is going to take us some time to figure out how we move on from here but with the support of family and friends we know we will heal, unfortunately we have been in these shoes before and know it doesn't happen overnight. So, please be patient with us as we try to figure out how we move on with out our girl:(Much love, Becky, Terry, Amanda, and Nick.

“ My deepest sympathy to your family. I only met Britney once when my son Jason took her to homecoming one year, but she was very nice and polite. My heart breaks for all of you and I hope you find some comfort knowing there are a lot of people praying for you and wishing you peace at this difficult time.

“ I went to college with Britney and we did our internships together at the ISD Head Start program. She was great to work with and learn with. She often talked about her little brother Michael and how much her family meant to her. She was a joy to work with.....I am so sorry for your loss. Your family is in my prayers.
