“ I’m a school counselor who worked with Bob at Coolidge. He cared deeply for, believed in and fought for his students. He told me it was simple: “every kid can learn; it just takes some kids longer.” He found a way to reach & motivate & create a place for each one.... his classroom...he changed the world there.. he was willing to break a few rules to do it. He was creative colorful & full of life. I’ve met many fine teachers but none quite like Bob.
Thanks, Mr Raboin! You gave it all! Enjoy eternity!

“ Dear Sue and family. I am so sorry to hear of Bob's passing. The memories of our college years are flooding in, especially the weekends in the little house next to the store where you lived during college. We were fraternity brothers though not good fraternity members. I went home with you and him one weekend. Good times.

Bob was a really good man. Smart, funny, extremely talented and kind. I learned from him to tell you the truth. He had awesome values. In reading the obituary I am not at all surprised to read he was a great father. Not surprised at all. .

I don't think I can say anything to relieve your sadness. But I will be thinking of Bob and you all for a while and though I don't pray in the traditional manner I will send you all as good energy and thoughts as I can.

Sue. Take care. I send you much love.

Bill Ward.

“ I was so saddened to hear about Bob's death. I have not seen him since we were bandmates in "The Red Line", over 50 years ago. I love this photo of our band which was taken in the summer of 1967, just after we had won a battle of the bands in Iron Mountain. To me he remains, "Bobbie Raboin", our young, bright eyed drummer proudly sitting on top of that Vox amp. Rock on old friend.

“ When I think of Bob, I smile. I'm grateful for his example to me as a teacher and as such a positive influence on two of our daughters as their teacher. I can still see his Volkswagen van painted by his students every year!!! Amazing!! 😂!!! You will be in our thoughts.

Dear Bob, how blessed I was to meet up with you and Ted at my sisters New Year's Eve party so many years ago and heard the both of you singing. I chimed in and the rest, as they say, is history! I will never forget all of our performances for family and friends and in public and the joy it gave me to make beautiful music together. You often said that performing together with Ted and I was a highlight of your life and it was certainly a highlight of mine as well. I am so grateful for the good times we had together. May you rest in peace.

Mr. Raboin had such strong connections with his students. Our Friday sing along to The Beatles, Jim Croche, and many others taught us to read lyrics. I never thought of it as reading at the time, just fun to listen to his guitar and join in.

Favorite songs: Ticky Tacky Boxes, Puff the Magic Dragon, Albert Hall, Vincent, and many, many more.

I hope your Gold VW Bug was your chariot. Rest in peace.

“ One of the teachers I think of most often and most fondly of - each time a Beatles or Simon and Garfunkel song comes on, the fact that I know the worlds to "We didn't the fire" or to the rise of Dreamcatchers again recently and our memories of making them with yarn and popsicle sticks in his classroom. He was also my teacher the year the Berlin Wall fell and I can picture exactly which desk I was sitting in while we talked about it. And those don't even scratch the surface of the life lessons earning those songs and craft projects had on us or the message of those songs and his teaching. His life has had and will continue to have such a lasting impact on so many of us and those we teach or raise. Thank you for sharing him with so many of us. We are sending your family so much love from all of the Shutt girls and "Mrs. Shutt" who was fortunate enough to teach along side him at Coolidge.

“ Like many have already said, I cannot listen to The Beatles without thinking of Mr. Raboin sitting up by the projector belting out his favorite songs. He taught us so much when we were so little and made a lasting impression on everyone. I will be thinking of your family and Mr. Raboin during this time.

“ To Susan, Peter, and Charlie- I was very sad to see Bob's obituary in the paper this morning. Although I have been retired from delivering mail for almost 3 years, it was ALWAYS such a treat to see Bob outside and shoot the gift of gab with him and find what he was “tinkering “ with. Of course, I didn't mind seeing the dogs either. That was truly the best part of my day. Our prayers go out to all of you during this time. I'm sorry I never said anything to you when Jon died. I guess I didn't really know what to say . It was so tragic. On a positive note, I'm loving retirement and am enjoying making beef jerky for people to enjoy. If you were still on Doemel, I'm sure I would have stopped over and gave some to Bob !

“ I had Mr. Raboin as a teacher at Coolidge Elementary. He was an amazing man. He taught with his heart and soul. I am so grateful for that experience. I will never forget the books he encouraged me to read, his stories, now and later, and music Friday's. He will be forever Feeling Groovy. My thoughts and prayers are with the entire family.

“ Among the lessons that Mr. Raboin taught me in 5th grade, I count knowing the all words to Feeling Groovy, Sound of Silence, and We didn't Start the Fire, as one of the best. He was an amazing educator who made a difference in the lives of countless children.

“ No other teacher had as much impact on me as Mr Raboin. I missed 5 weeks of school in 5th grade and he'd walk me though each lesson every time so I could get caught up. I don't hear the Beatles, David Bowie or We Didn't Start the Fire without thinking of him. A true innovator. Anyone that had him for a teacher at Coolidge was lucky. I can still hear him tell the class about having 2 sons and an "alien" and about his travels to Saudi Arabia and driving a Jeep in the desert at night. May his family find peace.

“ I had Bob as a teacher twenty-one years ago, and he made a lasting impression on my life. He genuinely cared for his students, and made us care about the things he taught. His classroom was a shrine to the things he loved, full of Star Wars figurines and Beatles album covers- it's imprinted in my memory as a testament to the fact that we don't need to let go of the things that bring us happiness as we age. With a twelve string guitar and an overhead projector, he taught us the value of celebrating a job well done. I (and, I suspect, many others) carry a deep love of music and reading that was fostered in his classroom, and as we started to love these things, Mr. Raboin pushed us to form our own opinions and think critically. He made us feel like our thoughts and opinions mattered, a rare currency when you're ten years old, and a practice which must have taken more patience and compassion than I ever could have understood at the time. A lot of his students owe a lot to him, and I'm grateful to have had him as a teacher.

“ I worked with Bob at Coolidge. He was the consummate teacher and mentor to the kids. He taught them to love music, nature, reading and art. I will never forget Bob and the world has lost a great light. But heaven has gained an amazing man, singer, teacher and guitarist.
